AZULE ENERGY
a bp and Eni company

What is Greater PAJ?

A project designed for long-term impact

Greater PAJ is a key development project that reflects Azule's commitment to responsibly developing Angola's energy resources and delivering long-term value for the country.

It is the first integrated multi-block development in Angola, bringing together shared infrastructure and operational synergies to improve efficiency, optimise resources, and create long-term value.

A new hub for development

At the heart of the Greater PAJ project is a new FPSO, designed to support the integrated development of multiple blocks and maximise operational synergies.

AZULE ENERGY
a bp and Eni company

A key milestone

In June 2026, Azule Energy and partners reached the Final Investment Decision (FID) for the Greater PAJ project, marking an important step towards development.

Discovery — Appraisal — Planning — FID 2026 — Development

Greater PAJ at a glance

AZULE ENERGY
a bp and Eni company

Supporting Angola's energy future

- Producton capacity: 95.000 barrels/day
- Investment: $5 billion
- Expected start-up: 2029
- Local content opportunities accros multiple disciplines
- Supporting Angolas future energy supply
- Key milestone: FID approved in June 2025